Rochester, N.Y. – The Women’s Council of the Rochester Business Alliance announced Friday the recipient of the 24th ATHENA Award.

Jennifer Leonard, president and executive director of the Rochester Area Community Foundation, received the award for her philanthropy to the Rochester community.

Leonard has made the RACF the largest philanthropic foundation in Rochester.

Twenty-two area women were recognized as ATHENA award finalists.

The ATHENA award is given annual to a local professional woman who has demonstrated significant achievements in business, community service and the professional advancement of women.
